

I have been very satisfied with the Indiana restrictions on telephone solicitations. The volume of calls has decreased by over 90% since I added my name to the no-call list. With the automatic dialing systems, it had gotten very annoying. Every evening calls were coming in just like computer spam, typically 3-7 daily. I would be very disappointed if the federal proposal were more lenient compared to the Indiana law.